PROFILING OUR ALUMNI

The UQ School of Psychology is proud of its Alumni and wants to recognise the diverse range of individuals who have graduated from our Psychology programs. By profiling our Alumni, we hope to acknowledge the wonderful milestones that our Alumni have been able to achieve using their psychological training. We also want to showcase the variety of career trajectories that are possible with a psychology degree.

Please use this document to create your own featured alumni profile.

Why your profile is important

We value our alumni and believe that it is important to stay connected with you. One way we hope to achieve this is by giving you an opportunity to share your unique story. By telling us a little more about the pathway you are on, you can help inform and inspire students, staff and fellow alumni from the UQ School of Psychology.

We hope that your psychology degree has helped you to better follow your passions, craft your own career path and see the world in a different way. We are excited to hear what your experience has been and find out how we can continue to support you.

What is involved

Please tell us a little more about you, your studies and your career. This is your chance to showcase what you have been up to.

We understand that time is valuable to our Alumni, and have therefore tried to make this process as straight-forward as possible. We have selected a list of 10 questions in order to get an insight into your professional life, hopefully without taking too much of your time.

Take a moment to answer the 10 questions on the following pages. You can type your responses directly into the fillable sections of this pdf file.

Profile Usage

With your permission, this profile will be published on the School of Psychology website and other school media for the purposes of:

- Recognising and acknowledging our alumni
- Informing current UQ students on possible career pathways
- Inspiring prospective students to study psychology at UQ
- Updating the School of Psychology with what our valued alumni are doing
